COLOURING BOOK

ABOUT:

Level Playground is a project which aims to support parents, carers & early childhood educators to raise children who can be their true selves, who are free to explore all things that interest them in life.

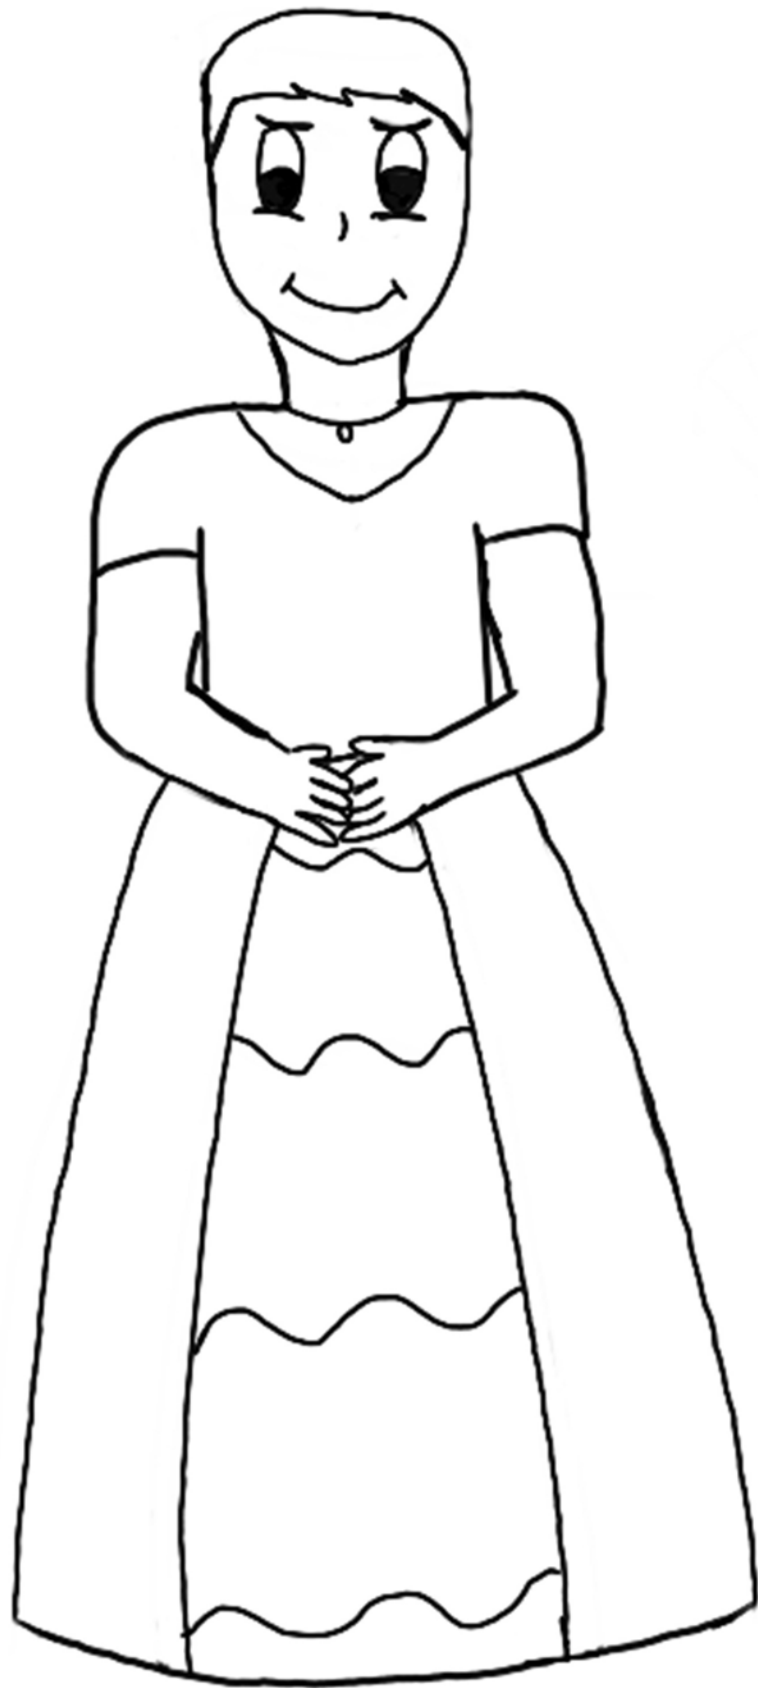

Level Playground provides parents, carers & educators with practical information and skills to increase knowledge of, and change attitudes and behaviours that reinforce gender stereotypes and gender norms within parenting and educating practice. Level Playground provides practical activities that parents, carers & educators can participate in with their children, particularly in relation to speech, play and education, and helps parents, carers & educators to create a world for their child without the limitations of socially and culturally constructed gender roles and norms.

PARTNERS:

EDVOS approached Ringwood Secondary College and ran an art project with students, who hand drew then digitally traced the images that appear in this resource. If you're interested in running the art project with your school, please get in touch via contact@levelplayground.org.au
